Principal's Word - Greg Miller

Dear Students, Parents, and Guardians
As we reach the end of Week 5, I am continually inspired by the dedication, kindness, and resilience shown by our school community. This week, I want to highlight the virtue of generosity, drawing from the teachings in Luke 6 and Hebrews 13:16, and then discuss how we can enhance our problem-solving skills through effective thinking. Generosity is a core value that strengthens our community and enriches our lives. In Luke

6:38, Jesus tells us, "Give, and it will be given to you. A good measure, pressed down, shaken together, and running over, will be poured into your lap. For with the measure you use, it will be measured to you." This powerful message reminds us that acts of generosity not only benefit those we help but also bring blessings into our own lives. When we give freely and selflessly, we create a ripple effect of kindness and compassion that extends far beyond our immediate actions.

Hebrews 13:16 further reinforces this principle: "And do not forget to do good and to share with others, for with such sacrifices God is pleased." This verse encourages us to be mindful of opportunities to share our time, talents and resources with those in need. Whether it's helping a classmate with their homework, volunteering for a community project or simply offering a listening ear, every act of generosity contributes to a culture of care and support within our school.

In addition to fostering a spirit of generosity, we also focus on developing effective problem-solving skills. At Crossways Lutheran School, we believe that effective thinking is crucial when tackling challenges.

Reflecting on problems, considering multiple perspectives and brainstorming solutions are essential steps in the problem-solving process.

For our students, honing these skills is vital for academic success and personal growth. By approaching problems with a thoughtful and systematic mindset, students can identify the root causes of issues, generate creative solutions and make informed decisions. This process not only enhances their critical thinking abilities but also builds resilience and confidence.

Parents and guardians, your role in supporting your children as they develop these skills is important. Encourage them to reflect on challenges they face, discuss potential solutions together and praise their efforts in problem-solving. By fostering an environment where thoughtful reflection and creativity are valued, you help your children become adept at navigating life's complexities.

As we conclude this week, let us embrace the principles of generosity and effective problem-solving. Let us give freely and support one another with open hearts, while also taking the time to think deeply and creatively about the challenges we encounter. Together, we can create a nurturing and dynamic learning environment that prepares our students for a bright future. Thank you for your continued support and dedication to our school community. Wishing you all a restful and reflective weekend as we look forward to the weeks ahead.

Warm regards,

Greg Miller

Year 5/6 Spann

This is a very short but busy term, full of fun and learning. The learners are enjoying working in groups and relying on each other's strengths and weaknesses to solve problems. They have done a few experiments in Science where they are learning all about light. In English they are in the process of re-enacting famous children stories in groups to build their confidence standing in front of the class. They are super excited to be performing these little plays on Friday. In Art the learners are enjoying using their creative skills and taking full advantage of Art Club on Mondays after school.

This week the highlight is the Tcharkuldu Rock run, where many of my learners will be participating. I wish them all the best.

Chapel - What Heaven is like?

Last week at Chapel Andrew spoke about what Heaven may look like and some students were asked to the stage to have a Wedding Feast ! This was enjoyed by all the students and parents and we look forward to seeing you at Chapel next week.

Terena Evans - Deputy Principal

Last Thursday was another gorgeous day. I took out the second group along the foreshore, for beach clean-up. Once again the students were very keen to get busy collecting rubbish. Thanks to those families who signed permission forms allowing their children to participate in this community activity. It is so good to be able to give back and make small difference. 33 students have signed up for this program which goes to show that our students do care about keeping our town tidy.
Kindest regards,

Terena Evans

Indi Halbert Work Experience

Indi Halbert did Work Experience at Crossways this week as a part of her Year 12 subject at CAS, Work-Placed Practices. Indi ran an activity with the Foundation class about something they are thankful for.

SAPSASA Football Boys

This week is SAPSASA Football in Adelaide.

Crossways have 4 boys participating (Richard Peel, Thomas Anderson-Graham, Dre-Shawn Graham and Freddie Jericho)

We wish the boys all the best for a successful week.

Crossways Choir on Tour !

This Term Sara has been magnificent at organising our Choirs to go on tour to a range of locations including the Old Folks home, Ceduna Foreshore caravan park and the Sailing club. I was privileged enough to attend the junior school choir tour to the Old Folks home last week. The students performed beautifully with a few getting solo's. The patients and staff were over joyed with the music provided and gifted the children home made biscuits and 2 cards to show their gratitude. Crossways is a diverse, multicultural school where we continue to strive to offer as many opportunities for our students to learn a variety of skills. Music is a very popular option along with our weekly electives. I thank all the staff here for continuing to shape Crossways into a caring, supportive, productive place to work and for students to learn and grow.
